The below table records where progress has been made on Action Points identified in the St Enoder Parish Plan, which was adopted by St Enoder Parish Council in June 2008.

No.	Proposed action	Partners	Progress
HOUSING AND DEVELOPMENT
1	Active representations to the local planning authority to ensure that the new Local Development Framework reflects the wishes of the people of St Enoder Parish.	St Enoder Parish Council and Cornwall Council.	The work towards a Cornwall-wide Local Plan commenced in late 2009. On Cornwall Council, this involved a Planning Policy Advisory Panel from 2009 to 2013, which was chaired by St Enoder divisional member Cllr Cole. The work is now being taken forward by the Environment, Heritage and Planning Policy Advisory Committee, which is also being chaired by Cllr Cole. St Enoder Parish Council responded to three formal consultations on the Local Plan from the unitary authority in March-April 2011, January-February 2012 and March-April 2013. These representations reflected the views set out in the Parish Plan document (ie. St Enoder Parish needs a breathing space from large-scale development, infrastructure improvements). In its response to the second Local Plan consultation, the Parish Council also set out its unanimous opposition to the possibility of an eco-community of over 3,000 houses in the Ruthvoes Farm and Quoit Farm areas, part of which would have been in St Enoder Parish near Toldish. Cornwall Council's portfolio holder with responsibility for Planning announced in March 2012 that the proposal for standalone settlements would not be allowed to go ahead.

			In late 2013, the Parish Council formally agreed to produce a Neighbourhood Plan for St Enoder and set up a working group (comprising Cllrs Baker, Brawn, Cole, Dixon, Hearl, Hopkins, Morcom and Pickles) to take the project forward. A grant of £7,000 towards the works was secured from the Supporting Communities in Neighbourhood Planning programme (Community Development Foundation (CDF) / Department of Communities and Local Government). The working group has undertaken significant background research and a parish-wide questionnaire was produced and delivered to all homes within St Enoder Parish during September 2014. Sessions to support this questionnaire were held at all the Village Halls in tandem with its distribution.
2	Support for improvements to the physical and social infrastructure of St Enoder Parish.	St Enoder Parish Council and Cornwall Council.	See Action Point 1.
3	Support for a character study to identify the most appropriate land for housing development in the future, if and when more housing is deemed desirable by the local community.	St Enoder Parish Council and Cornwall Council.	See Action Point 1.
4	Pro-active support for the promotion of affordable housing for local people through exception sites and other initiatives as and when local need can be demonstrated.	St Enoder Parish Council and Cornwall Council.	Since 2008, a number of developers have achieved planning permissions for affordable housing. A number of these have been on exception sites or as departures from the local development plan. Ocean Housing completed 8 social rented properties at Hannaford Close, St Columb Road, in 2008; 19 social rented properties and 8 shared ownership units were built at Harvenna Heights, Fraddon, in 2010; and 9 affordable rent properties and 4 shared ownership units were completed at the same development in 2013. Four discounted sale units were approved at Kilburn in Fraddon (2007), and six affordable rental units were granted consent at Redgate Farm near Indian Queens (2008). A further departure site for 23 housing units (of which 13 would be discounted sales) at Lindsay Fields, Fraddon, was granted consent in 2013. None of these consented properties have been built.

			A further 12 discounted sale units (and eight open-market units) were granted consent on a departure site at Kilburn in Fraddon (2011). The Parish Council opposed this development for a range of reasons including density, the cramped layout and lack of amenity space, but it was approved by an inspector. A new application on the site for 11 discounted sale units (and nine open-market units) were consented by Cornwall Council in 2014, in spite of strong objections from the Parish Council. St Enoder Parish Council has also supported a number of applications for self-build affordable properties for local families. There are also existing consents for over 30 other affordable units but which are not being built at the present time due to the economic climate.

A parish-wide questionnaire was produced and delivered to all homes within St Enoder Parish during September 2014. This will allow the Parish Council to work with partners to protect certain areas from inappropriate development and identify appropriate land for employment use.

8	Pro-active engagement with the regeneration opportunities within the Clay Area and the new commissioning body to make sure that the future aspirations of the Parish are properly met.	St Enoder Parish Council and Cornwall Council. Local businesses.	The Strategic Investment Framework for the China Clay Area was completed by Restormel Borough Council in 2008. It made specific reference to the main employment estates in St Enoder Parish.

			The commissioning body referred to in the Action Plan did not materialise due to local government reform and the onset of the unitary authority. The Parish Council and Restormel Councillors played their part in successfully lobbying for a China Clay Area Network for the new unitary council – including St Enoder Parish. (2008) St Enoder Parish was also covered by the Clay Country Local Action Group (LAG) - Rural Development Programme England (RDPE) between 2008 and 2013, which invested over £2 million in Mid Cornwall. The Chairman of the Clay Country LAG from 2011-2014 was Cllr Cole.

Out of 27 responses, 13 households wanted the play area to be constructed while 13 households did not. As a consequence, no action was taken by Cornwall Council at that time. A further survey of residents was undertaken in 2014. This found that 20 households wanted the area to be tidied up and maintained as a "green area" while 15 wanted some play equipment to be provided. The majority view, as shown above is being taken forward, and St Enoder Parish Council has agreed to maintain the area in the future.

			Trevine Meadows The play areas were not provided. Cornwall Council agreed that open spaces with no equipment would be adequate. The Parish Council and St Enoder's divisional member were not included in these discussions. Clodan Mews, St Columb Road Also relevant to this Action Point is the open space at Clodan Mews. LOCAL ENVIRONMENT
30	An increase in the level of street cleaning and weeding/spraying by Cornwall Council.	St Enoder Parish Council and Cornwall Council.	Cllr Cole and the Parish Council have regularly made representations for enhanced street cleaning across St Enoder Parish.

			Due to the cuts to its funding from central government, Cornwall Council no longer sprays weeds along roads and pavements. Since 2014, St Enoder Parish Council has employed a contractor to spray weeds in the main built-up areas of the Parish twice a year.
31	An increase in the number of litter bins in St Enoder Parish.	St Enoder Parish Council and Cornwall Council.	The Parish Council worked with Restormel Borough Council and their contractor SERCO to purchase five new bins around the Parish including locations in Summercourt and along Parka Road, Fraddon (2009). Cllr Cole is promoting a review of bin coverage in St Enoder Parish – compared to other areas – in order to lobby for enhanced coverage.
32	The formation of a Parish-wide environmental project to work in partnership with the Parish Council to improve footpaths and amenities.	St Enoder Parish Council, Cornwall Council, local businesses and local people.	The Fraddon and Penhale Enhancement Association continues to exist, but a Parish-wide organisation has yet to be created.
33	Support for initiatives to promote footpaths, walks and amenities to the local population.	St Enoder Parish Council, Cornwall Council and local people.	An illustrated booklet of a circular walk around Fraddon was produced by the Fraddon and Penhale Enhancement Group with financial support from St Enoder Parish Council and the former Restormel Borough Council (£250) (2008). Restormel Borough Council also granted £250 towards the renovation of a milestone on this walk in the centre of Fraddon. In 2009, the former Restormel Borough Council agreed to pass ownership of the Kelliers to the Parish Council for use by local people. This was democratically agreed but sadly Cornwall Council refused to honour the agreement. Cornwall Council has since offered a 99-year lease (peppercorn rent), with a break clause, but one that cannot be enacted for at least 25 years. St Enoder Parish Council has voted to accept this offer in principle and the legal agreement is presently being finalised.
34	A programme of improvement works to local footpaths, including surfacing, draining and signage.	St Enoder Parish Council and Cornwall Council.	Footpaths in the Parish were reviewed as part of the County Council's Public Path Improvement Programme in 2008-2009, but a number of issues continue to be brought to the attention of Cornwall Council.

			These include water on the footpath near Gaverigan, loose signs at Gaverigan and Penhale, and poor surfacing on the Goss Moor trail. New signs to Indian Queen Pit were provided by Cllr Cole, through his divisional member's budget for highway improvements (2013). The Parish Council has twice facilitated improvements to part of an eroded permissive path to the west of Highgate Junction (2013 and 2014). The Parish Council is now receiving an annual payment of £500 from the owners of the Retyn / Ennis Barton turbine to collect litter and better maintain the rural parts of the Parish, which will include local footpaths (2013 onwards). Under a contract with Cornwall Council, the Parish Council is cutting key local footpaths twice a year. The Parish Council is also preparing a scheme to improve footpath access between Pit Lane and Pocohontas Crescent, Indian Queens. It is hoped that the works will be carried out in the autumn of 2014.

Data on the extent of intervention has been requested by the Parish Council but this has not been forthcoming. The Parish Council also formed a low-carbon working group to assist with the promotion of greener lifestyles for parishioners. St Enoder Parish Council, Cornwall Council and local bus companies.	Cornwall County Council consulted on the location of a series of bus shelters in Fraddon and Indian Queens in 2008, as part of improvements to the Newquay-Truro “quality bus corridor.” St Enoder Parish Council supported the majority of the proposals but objected to some of the sites proposed, which were not brought forward. The shelters were erected in 2010 at the following locations; road next to Kingsley Village (two), Westbourne Terrace (two), Blue Anchor, Fraddon Hill, and opposite Pocohontas Crescent. One bus stop was moved to a position opposite the Blue Anchor, but was shifted back to the Millennium Green following anti-social behaviour and a significant number of local representations. The Parish Council has erected three further bus stops; positioned on Fraddon Hill, at the entrance into Carworgie Way, and by the Indian Queens Industrial Estate (2011-2013). Cornwall Council also erected two timber bus shelters along Parka Road, St Columb Road, due to funding from the Mid Cornwall eco-town funding pot. 46	Erection of permanent speed check lights at entrance points into the main built-up areas of St Enoder Parish where there have been problems with speeding.	Cornwall Council.	The Parish Council wrote to Cornwall County Council on highway matters identified in Parish Plan in 2008. Only a limited response was received, though a representative of the County Council did meet with the Parish Council. Funding for highway improvements had been restricted to the divisional member's budget totalling £24,000 for the period 2010-2013. For the period 2013-2017, the unitary authority will have a central allocation of money, extremely limited in scope, but to which members can bid for support. Members were given a deadline of mid-August 2014 to put forward schemes for consideration. Cllr Cole registered all proposals listed in the Parish Plan and which the Parish Council had discussed in recent years. These included enhanced entrance points into the main built-up areas of St Enoder Parish and other key locations, such as the old A30 westbound into Indian Queens, old A30 eastbound into Fraddon, A39 southbound into St Columb Road, A39 northbound into St Columb Road, westbound carriageway (Newquay Road) into St Columb Road, old A30 westbound into Summercourt near the primary school, A3058 northwards into St Austell Street, Summercourt, and A3058 southwards into Summercourt.

Cornwall Council and Highways Agency.	The works at the road junction, north of Summercourt, were completed in 2008. Footway improvements along St Austell Street were also investigated at this time but did not go-ahead because of a lack of funding and issues concerning land ownership.

49	Investigation of other possible gateway/traffic calming measures at entry points into other built-up areas in the Parish such as St Columb Road.	Cornwall Council.	The County Council consulted on a calming scheme for Fraddon brought forward by former County Council member Cllr Waters in 2008. The extent of local objections meant that it did not proceed. For schemes put forward to Cornwall Council to consider in the spending period 2013-2017, see Action Point 46.
50	New 20 mph limits outside Summercourt Primary School and along the Drang to the Indian Queens Primary School during term-time.	Cornwall Council.	Cornwall Council slightly refashioned the bus drop-off point at the request of the School and erected some additional fencing on the road corner (2012). Cornwall Council carried out a consultation for a 20 mph speed limit on the roads around Indian Queens Primary School. The proposal was supported by the consultation responses (2014). Schemes put forward to Cornwall Council to consider in the spending period 2013-2017 by Cllr Cole include a 20 mph speed limit by Summercourt Primary School, potentially linked to gateway features, as well as measures relating to the expansion of Indian Queens Primary School and ongoing problems with traffic congestion / conflict with local neighbours. These include pedestrian crossings on St Francis Road and Chapel Road, parking restrictions near the School, new footpath links to Harvenna Heights estate (to be completed by Ocean Housing in 2016) to the west, and linking Halloon Avenue to the north, extension of footways on St Francis Road, introduction of crossing patrol(s), and the widening of entrance into the Drang as suggested by local residents.

Consideration to be given to 40 mph limits on the outside of 30 mph limits.	Cornwall Council.	Through his divisional member's budget for highway improvements, Cllr Cole has funded (i) improved signage and road markings at Seaview Terrace where Cornwall Council would not permit a reduction in the speed limit, (ii) extension of the 30 mph speed limit on Moorland Road, Indian Queens, and improved signage and road markings at Toldish, (iii) extension of the 30 mph speed limit at Chapeltown, Summercourt, and (iv) improved signage and road markings along New Road near Fraddon, where Cornwall Council would not permit a reduction in the speed limit (2013).

52	Investigation of light controlled pedestrian crossings in Chapel Road and St Francis Road, Indian Queens, to aid movement to and from the Indian Queens Primary School, as well at the crossroads at Summercourt. Consideration also to be given to the re-timing of traffic lights at Summercourt to aid safer crossing of the main road and erection of safety rails on two remaining sides of crossroads.	Cornwall Council.	Cllr Cole has made a formal request that consideration be given to re-timing of the traffic lights to make it easier for pedestrians to cross (2013). Schemes put forward to Cornwall Council to consider in the spending period 2013-2017 by Cllr Cole include pedestrian crossings at Summercourt crossroads, as well as measures relating to the expansion of Indian Queens Primary School and ongoing problems with traffic congestion / conflict with local neighbours. These include pedestrian crossings on St Francis Road and Chapel Road, parking restrictions near the School, new footpath links to Harvenna Heights estate (to be completed by Ocean Housing in 2016) to the west, and linking Halloon Avenue to the north, extension of footways on St Francis Road, introduction of crossing patrol(s), and widening of entrance into the Drang as suggested by local residents.
53	Investigation into whether an extended network of double yellow lines could be used to better manage traffic throughout the Parish.	Cornwall Council.	The Parish Council produced a report about the lack of parking enforcement throughout the Parish and the need for a review of parking arrangements / more double yellow lines, particularly the area around the Co-op and Chapel Road / Drang (2013). Schemes put forward to Cornwall Council to consider in the spending period 2013-2017 by Cllr Cole include traffic management measures to combat traffic congestion, parking problems and conflict between car drivers and local residents around the Co-op and along St Francis Road.
54	Modification of 7.5 ton weight restriction around Fraddon, Indian Queens and St Columb Road at Newquay Road.	Cornwall Council.	See Action Point 46. Please note that in 2012 when Kingsley Developers proposed an expansion to Kingsley Village, Highways Agency officials suggested that west-bound traffic on the A30 wishing to visit the location should be signposted off at the Highgate Roundabout and diverted through the built-up area of Indian Queens and Fraddon. This proposal was opposed by the Parish Council and dropped by the Highways Agency.

FURTHER INFORMATION
Cornwall Councillors from the China Clay Area successfully persuaded the unitary authority to launch the Clay Bus (an enhanced mobile library service with a one-stop-shop provision to give advice to local people) in 2012. The bus has called at Fraddon, Indian Queens, Pedna Carne and Summercourt on a weekly basis.		Cornwall Council	Cuts at Cornwall Council lead to a halving of the budget for mobile library and mobile one-stop-shop provision. Cornwall Council's Cabinet voted to end the Clay Bus in August 2014. This was unsuccessfully opposed by Cllr Cole and St Enoder Parish Council. There will now be a single mobile library van for the whole of Cornwall, which will call at Indian Queens, Pedna Carne and Summercourt for short periods once a month.

Cornwall Council and St Enoder Parish Council.	The Parish Council has agreed to use these funds under its control as capital funding for new projects and initiatives within St Enoder Parish.

Two turbines have also been consented at Goonabarn Farm. The first one was erected in 2014 and the owner has agreed that this will generate an annual payment of £2,500 to the Parish Council. It has been confirmed that there will be a similar payment when the second turbine is erected.

Another turbine has been consented at Gaverigan Manor Farm that will generate an annual community payment of £6,000. It is understood that this will not be controlled by the Parish Council, but through some form of trust.

A large solar farm has been consented at Burthy that will generate a one-off community payment of approximately £70,000. The details of this scheme have yet to be finalised.
